Yang is one of the most accomplished short track speed skaters of all time, having won 59 world championships. She is the first person to have consecutively won six overall World Titles. Her victory in the women's 500m short track at the 2002 Winter Olympics made her China's first-ever Winter Olympics gold medalist.

Yang Yang will share her life story and illustrate the power of faith and dream through her achievements in sports. We hope our students can be inspired to pursue their dreams with perseverance by following Yang Yang's enlightening words.
